

ORDERED FROM A CHILIAN ISLAND.

AN IRONCLAD DRIVES AWAY A BRITISH STEAMER LOADING GUANO.

Philadelphia, Aug. 26.—A strange story was brought to Philadelphia yesterday by Captain Quick, of the British steamer Stuart, who asserts that he was driven from a guano island in the South Pacific Ocean by the Chilean ironclad warship Bemaranda. Captain Quick says the Stuart had been ordered to proceed to the islands, which are known as the Lobos-de-Aapeua, to load guano for Liverpool. He had taken aboard 190 tons when the Bemaranda came in sight and ordered the Stuart to leave. He weighed anchor and bore away for Callao 200 miles distant.

The reason assigned for the order from the Bemaranda was that Peru owned the islands until a short time ago, when they were seized for a war debt owed to Chile. Captain Quick says the Bemaranda demolished the dock used to load guano by the aid of dynamite. Railroad tracks were torn up and the work of years was laid to waste. Two recent reports have given the name of Bemaranda as the warship, which bore away for Valparaiso.

The report of the whole affair will be sent by Captain Quick to the officers of the British Government.
